This patronage consists of Commissionerships in land condemnation and street-opening proceedings, and is secret because the public generally is not informed about it. All the public learns is that Messrs, So and So have been named by some Supreme Court Justice as Commissioners of Appraisal V. J. Connelly. This patronage consists of Commis-ter, but it is not advised that this i patronage is one of the means of sub- T sidizing citizens whose influence and A support is necessary to the political

These Commissionerships are sinecures, and in many instances yield enormous fees for very little work.

In the matter of street openings the land owners benefited must pay the costs, which amount to from $700 to $1,800 in each case, the fees of the Commissioners being usually two-thirds of the total. In scaool site and other land condemnations for the city, the tax-payers foot the bill, the average cost of the proceedings for appraising a site for a school, fire-engine house or other minor condemnations for the city, the tax-payers foot the bill, the average cost of the proceedings for appraising a site for a school, nre-engine house or other minor public buildings being about $3.200, of which the Commissioners and their clerks also get about two-thirds.

The figures and the frees grow to abnormal proportions as compared with the foregoing in more important proceedings like the College place widening and fixing the awards for land taken for Corlears Hook and Mulberry Bend Parks, It always costs the city $50,000 ms such cases for Commissioners fees, clerks and incidentais.

Up to a year ago these land condemnation proceedings were a comparatively light burden on the taxpayers. The law provided that the fees of Commissioners of Appraisal should not exceed $200 for each man in any case.

Under the new law the condition of things changed. The brakes were let loose, and double steam was put on, with the result that proceedings were advanced during the last year at a wonderful rate. Some of the most important improvements which have gained a sudden impetus under the $10 a day session arrangement, with the names of the Commissioners who were so assiduous in promot ing them, are here given:

"The Evening World" has compiled a list of the men on whom Tammany, through the courts, bestows this patronage. Those named here are, with few exceptions, allied to Tammany Hail. Once in a while judges name commissioners of their own selection, but the majority of them are recommended by and appointed through Tammany Hail. It will be seen that some men are more favored than others, acting as commissioners in different proceedings, and as each of the minor commissionerships pays from $250 to $500, they have what in political parlance is called a "good thing." A commissioner in street openings averages $250, and in building site condemnations $500. The list speaks for itself. It shows the number of proceedings each man has acted in during the period this article covers. Here it is:

Legislature Imposed On in the Fifth Avenue Road Case.

Property-Owners Will Not Consent to the Proposition.

Here is a Canvass Made by "The Evening World.

It appears from investigation made by "The Evening World" that the attempt now being made to obtain a franchise for a street railroad in lower Fifth avenue is a good deal of a binco. The Metropolitan Street Railway Company. better known as the Broadway Tration by Byndicate, in whose interest the bill a railroad on Fifth avenue was into-duced in the Legislature by Assemblyman Roche, has informed the public and the Legislature that the necessary consents of the property-owners to permit the construction of the road could be obtained. This does not appear to be the case.

The Fifth Avenue Railroad Company, which was organized for the purpose of keeping a railroad off Fifth avenue, has the consents of the majority of property-owners for a road. This paradoxical situation was explained by Vice-President Loew, of the Fifth Avenue Company, Jessees, favor the cars and signed their consent. Did not know how the landlord considered if the proposition.

Schelkorn is a clerk for Peter Duscher, of 395 Lenox avenue.
Schelkorn was going out of the basement at 214 Lenox avenue, where he had been delivering some groceries at 7.30 o'clock last evening, when, according to his story. Powers and two other men approached.

Three large dogs, belonging to Powers, were running ahead of the men.
As soon as the dogs caught sight of Schelkorn, they dashed in his direction as if to attack him. Schelkorn appealed to Powers to call the dogs off, but says he received only taunts and curses for a reply. Schelkorn defended himself as best he could by kicking and striking at the dogs with his basket. He says Powers then struck him twice and knocked him sprawling into the basement. Schelkorn then, in self-defense, as he alleges, used his knife, the blade striking Powers behind the ear.

The cut in Powers's head is about an inch and a half long and one inch deep. The wound is not considered serious, but Powers was unabled to appear in court this morning.
